RAK CERAMICS TO SHOWCASE ROBERTO CAVALLI SURFACE AND WELLNESS COLLECTIONS AT DOWNTOWN DESIGN 2026

RAK Ceramics, one of the world's leading ceramics brands, takes part in Downtown Design 2026, the region's leading exhibition for contemporary and high quality design. The exhibition runs from 4 to 8 November at Dubai Design District (D3). At Stand A19, the brand presents a curated selection of surface collections that reflect its continued commitment to design innovation, material research and contemporary interiors.

The surfaces on show range from natural references and architectural influences to decorative detail. Together they show how texture, colour and pattern can give an interior a distinctive identity, and they offer architects, designers and interior professionals versatile materials for contemporary projects.

The showcase brings together two signature collections:

Roberto Cavalli: Glow Fossil and Tivoli, each in base and décor versions, alongside Obsidian and Moonlight. These surfaces offer varied visual expressions for projects seeking a distinctive aesthetic.

MAXIMUS: Four Season, Terra, Segesta, Sapien Wood and Sapien Wood Décor. These collections can be combined in many ways, mixing texture, colour and decorative detail across interior spaces.

Four Season and Segesta are also part of a mix-and-match design approach, in which complementary surfaces are combined into individual compositions. The approach draws on the changing beauty of the seasons, classical architecture and Italian artistic culture, and balances traditional references with contemporary design.

Through its participation at Downtown Design 2026, RAK Ceramics continues to connect with the region's design community, presenting surface solutions for evolving architectural and interior needs.
