SBID INTERNATIONAL DESIGN AWARD WIN FOR RAK-VALET

RAK-Valet, a designer sanitaryware collection from RAK Ceramics, has won the Bathroom & Sanitaryware category in the SBID International Design Awards 2021.

Designed by Patrick Norguet, the collection brings together the creative flair of the French designer and the manufacturing quality of RAK Ceramics. Available in matt and glossy finishes, RAK-Valet features thin-profiled washbasins, a generously sized, luxurious bathtub and sanitaryware with elongated lines. The collection is completed with details such as metal legs and towel rails, plus a functional and stylish ceramic shelf.

RAK-Valet also co-ordinates perfectly with some of the most successful furniture ranges by RAK Ceramics, including RAK-Joy Uno cabinets and mirrors.

The SBID International Design Awards is one of the most prestigious interior design events globally. Entries are evaluated by leading industry experts for their technical content and aesthetic creativity, with the design-conscious public also voting for the most inspiring projects.

Commenting on the win, RAK Ceramics Managing Director Alvin Biggs said: “The SBID Awards attract entries from around the world, with the winners always being to an extremely high standard. That makes this a real honour and a sign of industry recognition which is humbling.”
